WORK ON CANAL IS BEING PUSHED

Weber-Davis County Project Will Reclaim Much Land and Furnish Power.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—With 400 men and 200 teams working steadily, the work of concreting the Weber-Davis county canal is progressing rapidly, the concrete being laid at the rate of 500 lineal feet per day. Chief Engineer W. M. Bostaph, who is chief engineer of the company, is directing the work. He says the canal will be absolutely seepage-proof by early spring, in time for irrigation. The concrete will insure a flow of water three times greater than heretofore.

Will Reclaim Land.
The canal is nine and one-half miles long and will require 50,000 cubic yards of concrete in lining the interior. In the past the flow of water from the canal has been 12,000 acres. Next season, with the concreting completed, the flow will be increased to 25,000 acres, and will reclaim 25,000 acres of land now lying useless.

Irrigation and Power.
Of the increase volume of water, 425 feet will be used for irrigation purposes, while the remaining 300 feet will be devoted to the production of electrical power at the other end of the canal. A plant capable of furnishing 4,000 horsepower will be built at a cost of $100,000. The total improvements under way and being contemplated on the canal will amount to $750,000 and will make of the canal one of the finest, best equipped and surest sources of irrigation in the west.

MURDEROUS FOOTPAD STRIKES DOWN VICTIM

J. C. Browning Knocked Unconscious
as He Was Entering His Home in Ogden.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—As he entered by his front gate on Twenty-sixth street near Wall avenue early this morning, J. C. Browning was struck from behind by a footpad and left unconscious. When he recovered consciousness, he found a man bending over him, dressing the injury on the back of Browning's head. The stranger helped him into his home, administered to his needs and departed without giving his name.

Browning soon discovered he had not been robbed and attributes the hit to the timely arrival of the good Samaritan, who probably drove the thief off. The affair was reported to the police, but no arrests were made.

TEAMSTER NURED BY VICIOUS HORSE

William Shepherd Is Thrown From Wagon and Receives Fractured
Leg and Bruises.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—His shin bone protruding through the flesh, William Shepherd, a baggage wagon driver, was picked up from the street at Wall avenue and Twenty-fifth street late last night, where he had been thrown by a horse. The animal, hitched to a light rig, became frightened and reared over the dash board, striking Shepherd on the left leg, breaking the bone. Both the animal and the rig were taken to the Ogden general hospital, where the fracture was reduced.

AFTER SUFFERING FOR YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Park Rapids, Minn.—"I was sick for years while passing through the Change of Life and was hardly able to be around. After taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I gained 20 pounds, am now able to do my own work and feel well."—Mrs. Ed. LA DU, Park Rapids, Minn.

Brookville, Ohio.—"I was irregular and extremely nervous. A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I have become regular and my nerves are much better."—Mrs. R. KINNISON, Brookville, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases known of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it is free and always helpful.

ALLEGED FORGER BEHIND THE BARS

His Arrest Caused by Young Man Who Trained Him
About Town.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—Trailing a stranger about the city until he met a policeman, young Jack Greiner, son of a rooming house proprietress, at 128 Twenty-fifth street, brought about the arrest early this morning of a man who had presented a worthless check in payment for room rent. The fellow gave his name as Sam Smith, but among his effects were evidences that this was but one of a number of aliases.

Smith appeared at the rooming house Friday night and engaged a room. Late Saturday he returned and presented a check for $21.85 on J. G. Read Brothers company, offering to pay for the room two weeks in advance. The check was cashed and $16 in cash returned to Smith. Suspecting the fellow, Mrs. Greiner sent her son to follow him and to learn if the check was good. Young Greiner made inquiries which convinced him it was a forgery and then called a policeman.

Smith was taken to the police station, where the check was found to be a forgery. Young Greiner made inquiries which convinced him it was a forgery and then called a policeman.

CRIPPLED APPEARANCE CAUSES HIS ARREST

H. Le Roy Steals Rifle From Train and Conceals It in His Trousers Leg.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—H. Le Roy was arrested this evening by Detective Robert Burke, charged with stealing a rifle and revolver from James Ferrin, a passenger on the Shoshone train, north.

Ferrin had purchased the guns Saturday of a local arms company and had left them in his berth on the train today, expecting to make a hunting trip in the north. He was surprised to find the train for a few moments and returning, found the arms gone. He reported the matter to the police and Detective Burke observed Le Roy, who answered the description of the man Ferrin had seen.

When arrested, Le Roy was walking stiff-legged and search revealed the fact that his crippled condition was due to the fact that he had the rifle concealed inside his pants' leg. The pistol could not be found, but a grand larceny will be lodged against him.

INCORRIGIBLE GIRL CAUGHT BY POLICE

Escaped From Idaho Industrial School
Three Months Ago—Arrested at Ogden.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—An incorrigible 18-year-old Pocatello girl, who escaped from the Idaho industrial school at St. Anthony three months ago, was found on the streets of Ogden by the police late last night and is being held for the trial for the Idaho offense.

The girl claims to have wandered about the country since her escape, having stopped in a number of western cities. The police have notified the school authorities, who will send an officer to take her back. The girl's sentence would have expired in November.

LITTLE GIRL IS INJURED

While Riding Bicycle, a Child Runs
Into Pedestrian and Breaks Arm.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Oct. 23.—In the first district court yesterday, Judge Maughan, acting on the law and motion, ordered the disposition of a number of cases. In the case of T. H. Godfrey vs. W. H. Clark et al., the plaintiff's previous motion for a receiver for the Clark-McIntosh meat and grocery company, by motion of the plaintiff, was denied and the case dismissed.

In the case of Alex. Harris vs. the Oregon Short Line railroad the plaintiff's motion for a new trial was argued and taken under advisement.

In the case of Martha L. Humphrey vs. Rufus Humphrey an interlocutory decree for divorce was entered.

In the case of the state of Utah vs. Peter Affleck, charged with burglary, the defendant entered a plea of not guilty.

David Sparks pleaded guilty to immorality and sentence was set for November.

In the case of the state of Utah vs. Junius Christopherson the defendant took the case to the jury.

A final decree of divorce was granted in the case of Albert M. Bowman vs. Mary M. Bowman and Sarah Heath vs. Orson Heath.

NEWS OF UTAH AND ADJOINING STATES

SALT LAKE CITIZENS WANT RESTRICTION

Resolution for Regulation of Saloons Voted Down by Majority of Board.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Salt Lake, Oct. 23.—The struggle on the part of a portion of Salt Lake citizens to have the saloons regulated came to an end Friday evening, when the town board voted down a resolution for restriction. Burgess and Gates voted against the resolution and Humphrey for it.

Over two years ago a petition was circulated against the saloons, and it was signed by the majority of the people and presented to the board, but was tabled. Numerous meetings have been held since, but no action has been taken. A resolution was passed at a meeting held during the earlier part of the week and a majority voted for saloon regulation, and sent a committee to ask for action by the officials.

For Regulation.
The following residents met with the board Friday night, and each appealed for restriction: J. S. Jensen, Jonas Mattison, Hishol Lauritzen, C. N. Lund, C. M. Hason, Mrs. Hattie Alford, Mrs. Ellen Humphrey, H. G. Giffordson. President Jorgensen took a bold stand for the proposed regulation and made a strong plea for it. P. Scourp protested against the resolution, and was the only one to do so.

When put to a final test the motion to adopt the resolution was defeated. Mr. Burgess moved for time in the matter, which Gates seconded. In the north the motion was carried for two years, and the matter having been before the board that long, the committee voted for saloon regulation. This resulted in the killing of the resolution by the votes of Burgess and Gates.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR CARRYING CANDY TO SCHOOL

Alphonso Christensen, Son of Mart Christensen, Must Appear Before Judge.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ephraim, Oct. 23.—Alphonso Christensen, son of Mart Christensen, has been cited to appear before Judge Christensen of the district court, charged with carrying candy to school.

According to the evidence submitted at a preliminary hearing before the probation officer, young Christensen and another boy, Ariel Williams, also of this place, entered the court house and stood on the sidewalk near the depot, and carried the three buckets of candy to school.

Through the efforts of Marshal Beal the boys were apprehended and the stolen candy was recovered. Two of the buckets were found in the yard of the Myers family, about a block from the freight depot. The other was found by George Lyon.

The boys were given a hearing by the district court yesterday. Christensen was released on promise of good behavior and Christensen was ordered to appear before the court during the December term of court.

VACANT PLACES FILLED

Miss Kofford Loses with Republicans,
But Accepts Post from Democrats.
(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Castledale, Oct. 23.—The Democratic County Central committee held a meeting at the hotel here today, and left vacant by the county convention. Miss Louise Kofford of Castledale was named for recorder and J. R. Eddy for clerk of the office of county clerk. The clerk nomination was placed at Green River because the Republicans are alleged to be a citizen of that place for clerk, in the person of C. T. Bowen. Miss Kofford is a Republican, but is not likely to be so suddenly discarded. As an instance I may mention hair pads. Women who formerly were compelled to wear their hair quite flat, now find that their looks are greatly improved by the stylish curling which hair pads render possible. Hair pads thus remain, like the veil, a permanent feature of dress among many women.

"For the same reason the 'hobble' skirt, which greatly adds to the charm of so many women, is not likely to be suddenly discarded."

"When I speak of the 'hobble' skirt I do not mean the exaggerated 'hobble' which compels a woman to hop when she would like to run. Those are not worn by really fashionable people."

"Here, for instance," the manager remarked, picking up a sample of the latest style, "is a skirt which measures about one and one-half yards in circumference. That does not actually hobble, but it is probably two yards narrower than the old-fashioned skirts."

"From what I can see this modified 'hobble' is likely to rule the winter fashion."

Amid the clamor of the 'hobble' and the 'anti-hobble' one voice remains silent. An Express representative who endeavored to obtain from Messrs. Paquin the secret of their new winter design in skirts was received with almost open-mouthed astonishment.

"Not a word can be said," the manager replied, "before September 15. It is a secret until then."

Mme. Paquin, he admitted cautiously, was engaged on models at the present moment, but which was the probable outcome he refused to say.

One humorous critic of the 'hobble' declares that the effect is to give women two waists, one in the usual place and the other round the knee.

KILLED AT BUTTE IN AN AUTO SMASHUP
Anaconda, Mont., Oct. 23.—Miss Atlanta Knutson, 21, was seriously injured in an automobile accident near the Three-Mile house late this afternoon. She was driving a Buick car, owned by Butte and S. White, a St. Paul business man, when she was struck by a car driven by a man named "Beebe." The car crashed through a fence and went over an embankment. The accident was caused by the breaking of the front axle.

MRS. R. ROUSE DIED WHILE VISITING WITH HER SON.

Pioneer Woman of Utah Meets Death While Visiting With Her Son.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Salt Lake, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Rachel Rouse, a pioneer of Utah, who for the last five years has been making her home at Salt Lake, died at Provo yesterday as the result of a fall two days ago. The accident which was the immediate cause of her death occurred at the home of her son, Frank Rouse, of this city, whom she had been visiting for several days.

Mrs. Rouse, despite her 90 years, had been in good health and her friends had been visiting her at her home. While walking upstairs Friday, Mrs. Rouse slipped and fell, and was picked up by her son, Frank Rouse, who was with her at the time. Examination showed that her leg was broken and there were symptoms of internal injury. Her injuries were such that on account of her age, she was unable to rally from the shock, and she passed away this morning.

Crosses Plains.
Mrs. Rouse was born at Kineton, Warwickshire, England, June 5, 1820. She came to the United States in 1850, emigrating to Council Bluffs, Ia., where she remained for two years before coming to Salt Lake. She was the wife of a pioneer and the mother of several children. The journey across the plains was made to Salt Lake and a few years later she moved to Cedar Fork, and then to Goshen, where she lived until about five years ago.

She was the mother of three sons and two daughters—Mrs. Rachel A. Rimer, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Wheeler and John Rouse of Salt Lake. Frank Rouse of Provo, and later Rouse, who is now in Canada.

The body will be taken to Goshen for burial beside her husband, but arrangements for the funeral will not be made until word is received from the son who is now in Canada.

TO HOBBLE OR NOT A SKIRT DIVIDES THE FASHION CAMP INTO TWO PARTS.

London, Oct. 23.—Fashion circles in Europe and America are now divided into two camps—those who regard the "hobble" skirt as imparting a grace to the woman's figure which no other form of dress has ever yet devised, and those who look on it with horror as rendering womanhood ridiculous and the slave of a fad which may even lead to physical injury.

Lady Duff Gordon has decreed in the Daily Express the abolition of the "hobble" and she is powerful in the fashions of two continents. Charles Kurzman, the New York modiste, flung her resources to maintain the supremacy of the "hobble" among fashion specialists. The sketch begins with cracks at the New York police force and an exhibition of the methods employed by pickpockets. The leaders of the company are capital enterprisers and their act goes well.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Connelly present the old-time favorite, "Sweethearts," by W. S. Gilbert. It has been cut down to a twenty-minute sketch, though none of the important elements is omitted, and the same true love story is told in a charming manner. It is played in two scenes that correspond to the original two acts, showing the lovers at their parting in the garden and the same place forty years after on the return of the Indian veteran.

Arthur Bowen, billed as a singing comedian, makes several charming sketches which he describes in entertaining manner. His drawing is quick and skilful and the descriptions are amusing. Miss Irene Howley presents another singing number in which she changes her costume with each song. She has a sweet, rather light voice and a charming manner that makes the songs go.

The Kraggs trio are a troupe of European gymnasts, who give a good exhibition. It has been some weeks since an act of this character has been seen at the Orpheum and it was appreciated in consequence. Lem-Put, a singing clown, opens the bill with impersonations of animals, human voices and musical instruments that are well done and well received.

GARRICK THEATRE.
It is evident that Pritchard wrote the lines of "The Ironmaster" during the hibernating time, when life seemed really serious. Whatever humor seems to be in them from William Ingersoll, the author of the drama, the Garrick theatre is there by virtue of Wilson Day's eccentric interpretation. By no means is this fact to be overlooked. The atmosphere of which would be decidedly eerie is saved from failure and the climax leaves the audience believing it would be worth while if the characters were not mislaid their lines so they could not be found at the theatre's nois.

The scene of the unhappiness of Philippe Derlay and Claire de Beaulieu is laid in southern France and the curtain rises on the Chateau de Beaulieu, where Mlle. de Beaulieu is the betrothed of Duc de Bligny, who has designs upon her fortune. She has also a designing cousin, in the person of Athens Moullet, daughter of a poor tradesman, who succeeds in marrying de Bligny, leaving Claire heartbroken to nurse her grief.

Philippe Derlay, a young tradesman, finds in Claire his heart's desire and loves her. Though there is a coldness between them, because of her lingering loyalty for the duke, she finally learns to love her husband and is saving his life in a duel they are brought his life in perfect happiness.

SHUBERT THEATRE.
"The Girl and the Prince" was opened at the Shubert Saturday afternoon, is undoubtedly the best production of the Curtis company to date. It is one that would do credit to a much higher priced house. Two plays were added to the company during the week, giving a full organization. Frank Vack, the new comedian, is a distinct success. He is an experienced and capable actor and a high-class comedy man. Albert Leonard is an exceedingly clever dancer, judging from the exhibition he gives in the present play. He appears twice, giving a line of specialties which include a dance descriptive of a ball game and an impersonation.

Miss Maude Beatty and Carleton Chase make the singing hit of the piece with the duet number, "Because You're Good." It gave opportunity for her good voices which blended harmoniously in the ensemble parts. Miss Beatty also sang the finale, "When

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Max Figman draws the character of Hiram Perkins, in "Mary Jane's Pa," with those sure artistic touches that make him a very real person to the audience. Whatever part the playwright had in conveying the personality of the vagrant ne'er-do-well, it is evident that Mr. Figman has carried out and enlarged the conception. He presents an unusual type, placed in a difficult position, among people wholly unlike himself, who are incapable of understanding or appreciating him. It is Mr. Figman's greatest achievement that he is able to excite the sympathies of the audience for a character that is fundamentally obnoxious to practical people. The neglected wife, to whom sympathy is due, receives only a moderate share, though she is liked for her wholesome and sensible characteristics.

Mr. Figman plays Hiram Perkins with an ease and lightness of manner that appear to give no indication of the genuine feeling which the man later discloses. There are few calls for intense acting, but when these moments occur they are handled with the same sincerity that characterizes Mr. Figman's work throughout. It is his nonchalant and nonchalant manner of the wandering tramp that most entertains in the portrayal, and that is his character and the simple people of Gosport, Indiana.

Mr. Figman's Salt Lake engagement last February introduced "Mary Jane's Pa" to large audiences nightly, and undoubtedly the same success will attend the present visit to the Colonial theatre. The delightful wholesomeness of the play, with its picture of simple home life and genuine heart interest makes it the sort of production of which one never tires.

The company is, with one or two exceptions, identical with that brought to this city by Mr. Figman last year. Mary Jane is changed, and not altogether for the better, as a much younger child takes the part. Her work is sweet and natural, however, and falls short only as compared with the plump little person who made the decided hit last year.

Helen Lackaye has strengthened and broadened her part and her work. She has acquired finish and poise, making of the part something almost as perfect as Mr. Figman's own. There is the same line of Watkins in the person of Edwin Chapman, and he appears to have the same bearish overcast and the same ruddy countenance. Miss Faxon is another favorite who is recognized immediately as Helen Hartley. Her company throughout is capable, and the production is on an expensive scale. It will be seen at the Colonial five nights, including Thursday, with matinee Wednesday afternoon.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

The Orpheum programme is entertaining, with enough variety in the act to make it interesting from start to finish. There is a special attraction for the children in the engagement of George Auger and company in one of their own fairy tales, "Jack, the Giant Killer." Two midgits and the giant Auger, who is eight feet two inches in height, and two ordinary-sized women make up the cast. Ernest Rommel, said to be the smallest comedian in the business, a lively little fellow who plays the part of the giant, is a character of the most comical and humorous kind. The production is on an expensive scale. It will be seen at the Colonial five nights, including Thursday, with matinee Wednesday afternoon.

Not for Fat Folks.
"Though to my mind," he said, "the 'hobble' is not becoming to the French, American or German women on account of their broader hips, it adds grace and charm to the slimmer figure of the average English woman. People, especially have in view comes for the new fashion because it undoubtedly has the appearance of increasing their height."

"Women are naturally anxious to look as becoming as possible, and any which helps them to that end is not likely to be suddenly discarded. As an instance I may mention hair pads. Women who formerly were compelled to wear their hair quite flat, now find that their looks are greatly improved by the stylish curling which hair pads render possible. Hair pads thus remain, like the veil, a permanent feature of dress among many women."

"For the same reason the 'hobble' skirt, which greatly adds to the charm of so many women, is not likely to be suddenly discarded."

"When I speak of the 'hobble' skirt I do not mean the exaggerated 'hobble' which compels a woman to hop when she would like to run. Those are not worn by really fashionable people."

"Here, for instance," the manager remarked, picking up a sample of the latest style, "is a skirt which measures about one and one-half yards in circumference. That does not actually hobble, but it is probably two yards narrower than the old-fashioned skirts."

"From what I can see this modified 'hobble' is likely to rule the winter fashion."

Amid the clamor of the 'hobble' and the 'anti-hobble' one voice remains silent. An Express representative who endeavored to obtain from Messrs. Paquin the secret of their new winter design in skirts was received with almost open-mouthed astonishment.

"Not a word can be said," the manager replied, "before September 15. It is a secret until then."

JAPAN'S LARGER NAVY

Tokio, Oct. 23.—Count Katsura, the premier and minister of finance, speaking at a dinner of the Associated Clearing houses this evening, outlined the next budget briefly and said that the government was steadily adhering to the policies already followed.

The only new feature in the next budget will be an appropriation for naval increase, amounting to forty million dollars, payable in six years. This, the finance minister said, had been necessitated by the sheer requirements of maintaining peace.

The speaker pointed out signs of activity in the various industries of commerce, statistics showing that the new undertakings and the extension of existing business from January to September last, represent capital of $181,000,000.

Count Katsura emphasized Japan's friendly relations with the powers and her determination to maintain peace in the far east.

WEATHER TO BE FAIR.
Washington, Oct. 23.—Generally fair weather over the greatest part of the country for this week. In the north Pacific states a disturbance now hovering over the coast may bring a few showers early in the week. Later in the week the weather will be generally fair and cool over the north Pacific coast, followed by cooler temperature.
